

About us:

The Task Force for Global Health is an independent, nongovernmental organization based in Atlanta, GA, USA, with a field office in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. Our programs focus on eliminating diseases and protecting populations. Since our founding, we only take on problems we know can be solved, and we do it through powerful, global partnerships and collaborations because we are in the business of solving problems.

Our mission:

We exist to eliminate the diseases that have plagued humankind for centuries and build the systems necessary to protect the health of entire populations.

We solve large-scale health problems by:

Forging partnerships in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors to catalyze action.

Applying innovative thinking and rigorous science.

Practicing deep compassion for the people whom we serve.

Our core values:

Collaboration

We believe that partnerships are essential and that organizations working together have a much greater impact.

Health Equity & Social Justice

We work to provide all people, especially those in the poorest populations in the world.

Stewardship

We pride ourselves in the wise and judicious management of the resources entrusted to us.

Consequential Compassion

We link compassion to effective actions by being aware of the suffering of others, understanding the causes of that suffering, and engaging in informed actions to alleviate it.
